

The Birth Center at MGH

Danielle Blood, MD

Women's Health

Raised in Vancouver, Washington, Dr. Blood has trained and studied in Brooklyn and Buffalo, New York, as well as the Caribbean. She returned home to the Pacific Northwest in 2021 and was happy to join Mason Health.

She enjoys teaching her patients and helping every pregnant woman learn how to have the healthiest and safest pregnancy they can. She is interested in family planning and in managing opioid dependence in pregnancy.

Dr. Blood also enjoys helping gynecology patients achieve maximum quality of life while managing pelvic organ prolapse and pelvic floor disorders.

Special Interests

Family planning, pelvic floor disorders, opioid dependence

Medical Degree

St. George's University – School of Medicine, Grenada, 2017

Internship/Residency

Sisters of Charity Hospital, Buffalo, New York, 2021

Certification

Board Eligible, Obstetrics and Gynecology

Carey Martens, DO

Women's Health

Carey Martens, DO, joined the medical staff at Mountain View Women's Health and Mason General Hospital in 2018. Prior to this he had a private practice in Aberdeen, WA, that focused on bringing state-of-the-art, minimally invasive gynecologic procedures and the evidence-based practice of obstetrics and gynecology to a rural area.

Dr. Martens is passionate about staying ahead of the curve in medical trends and providing compassionate, close-to-home care that allows patients to stay local for the best care possible. He maintains close relationships with University of Washington and the Franciscan Health system to better serve his patients. Dr. Martens and his wife, Natasha, have two daughters who attend school in the area. During his free time he enjoys performance racing with his wife and traveling with his family.

Special Interests

Minimally invasive gynecologic procedures to treat incontinence, heavy cycles, and pelvic pain. Teaching medical students, residents and nurse midwives

Medical Degree

Touro University College of Osteopathic Medicine, Vallejo, CA 2003

Internship/Residency

St. Joseph Mercy Oakland Medical Center, Pontiac, MI 2007

Certification

Board Certified, Osteopathic Obstetrics and Gynecology

Andrea Martin, DO

Women's Health

Dr. Martin is pleased to care for women of all ages and encourage a high quality of life. She provides education and enjoys discussing adolescent reproductive health, family planning, achieving a happy and healthy pregnancy, and pelvic floor support. Raised in Michigan, Dr. Martin has studied and trained in the United States, England, and the Caribbean. She began working at Mountain View Women's Health and Mason General Hospital in 2016.

Special Interests

Preventive care, contraception management, and minimally invasive gynecologic surgery

Medical Degree

American University of the Caribbean, 2012

Internship/Residency

West Virginia University Hospitals, 2016

Certification

Board Certified, Obstetrics and Gynecology